Como se dice... Pura Vida!

Spanish language instruction is provided by Centro Panamericano de Idiomas (CPI), the premier language school in Costa Rica. With over 20 years successfully teaching students of all ages and abilities from all over the world, CPI has the experience and the qualified professors to ensure everyone in your family improves and enjoys learning.

CPI has custom developed instructional materials targeting multiple levels of students. Their proven methodology reinforces core grammar concepts that are instrumental to Spanish proficiency. Classes consist of daily conversations derived from the interests of the students themselves, supplemented by oral and written exercises. The primary goal is that students develop confidence in speaking, no matter what level they start at.

CPI has developed a specific interactive program for children 12 and under providing a more stimulating language instruction while ensuring that the foundation for proper Spanish speaking is developed.

Classes are held Monday to Friday. The small classes provide each student the greatest level of interaction with other students as well as personalized attention from the professor. Plus, each student will have personal one-on-one instruction tailored to the student's specific level and interests.

For example, one may focus on specialized Spanish words in business, law, politics, culinary or biology.
